Class Hours:
This course will have 72 class hours, including 40 lecture hours, professor 10 office hours, 10-hour TA discussion sessions, 2-hour review sessions, 10-hour extra classes.

Course Description:

Strategic management is concerned with the management of the total organization, as opposed to managing parts of it such as departments or functions that may exist within a larger entity. It deals with the development and implementation (or execution) of strategy at multiple levels. The concept of strategy and its formulation through formal and informal strategic thinking processes are central themes in this course. Strategy includes the broad range of decisions and actions that an organization operating in a competitive environment needs to take continually for achieving and sustaining superior long term competitive advantage. Anyone completing the requirements of this course seriously and with diligence can expect to improve their capabilities to analyze a variety of business situations, develop workable strategies for them, and communicate them to decision makers in a concise and convincing manner.

Course Objectives:

The main objectives of this course are:

Seoul Campus 02450 서울특별시 동대문구 이문로 107 tel 02.2173.2093 fax 02.960.7898
107, Imun-ro, Dongdaemun-gu, Seoul, 02450, Korea
Global Campus 17035 경기도 용인시 처인구 모현면 외대로 81 tel 031.330.4114 fax 031.333.1708
81, Oedae-ro, Mohyeon-myeon, Cheoin-gu, Yongin-si, Gyeonggi-do, 17035, Korea

1.   To introduce a variety of broad analytical frameworks, and tools and techniques for dealing with strategic issues in small, single business organizations at one extreme and large, multi business organizations at the other.

2.   To provide practice in the identification, analysis, and resolution of strategic issues facing a firm through case discussions, written analysis of cases and/or a group project that requires you to analyze a real company using the analysis tools of this class.

Required Textbooks:

The main required textbook is Rothaermel, Frank T., Strategic Management, McGraw-Hill, Fourth Edition, 2018. The abbreviation FTR refers to this text at other places in this document

We will be using a customized version of selected chapters and cases based on this textbook. A link will be provided in due course.

Grading & Evaluation:

The following is the grading scheme (tentative)

Attendance and class participation	15%
Case analysis write-ups (2 of 3)	30%
Interim (mid-term) examination	25%
Final examination	35%

Based on class size, a project option may be added. In that case, the grading & evaluation scheme will be modified as required.

Final grades will be determined based on the following score intervals:

Notes:

1. While I will make every effort to cover topics from the chapters as much as possible during the class lectures, it may be difficult or impossible to go over all the chapter slides and topics in the limited time of a class session. If some parts of a chapter remain undiscussed, I will expect you to review them on your own, and raise any questions in the first few minutes of the following session. As such, the responsibility to read the textbook and review the slides, both before and after the class, remains yours.

2. This syllabus and schedule is subject to periodic updates. Cases may be changed or dropped, and readings added. It is your responsibility to ensure that you are always following the most recent update of this outline document. When in doubt, please consult the agenda slides or recap announcements posted to the LMS as they will show you what has been covered in the sessions so far and what we will be covering in the next session on the schedule.
